

Efficient processes.
Less administration.

Virtual Cards: Accepted!

Use cases

Perfect for any kind of travel payment including hotel and low-cost airlines

Virtual cards are perfect for all kinds of travel payments. Due to control features such as a maximum amount that can be charged to each card or an expiry date per unique virtual card, you are always in control. With a virtual card solution from a business travel expert such as AirPlus International, you also benefit from detailed information and high data quality per transaction for full transparency and easy reconciliation.

A solution for infrequent travelers without a corporate card

New hires, interns or infrequent travelers usually don't hold a corporate card but a business trip might be required anyway. Usually those travelers need to cover costs with their personal payment card and thus affecting their personal credit limit. Settling their business travel expense with virtual cards supports your travelers and gives you full transparency over your travel spend.

Support for long-term travelers such as construction workers

Being on a job for several weeks is stressful enough. Don't put your staff under additional pressure. With virtual cards, you can either easily arrange and pay for their stay in advance or create a virtual card for their expenses on the go. And everything is paid centrally.

A solution for different industries

Companies in different industries and sectors have already discovered the advantages. Universities, for example, organize and pay the travel of their professors or research staff with virtual cards. Thanks to unique settings and data, costs can be easily allocated to a specific department or project.

Efficiency and automation – target achieved

When working with the right partner, like AirPlus International, you can benefit from fully automated booking and payment processes. No manual card generation, no hassle for your travelers on the trip and travel expense reports are obsolete, saving travelers and your finance department time and therefore money.
